Defining an Effective Charter School Governance Structure:

Crash Course
Defining the Intent of a Charter School Governing Board

- Not a collection of well meaning people

Rather……..

A highly effective team, strategically assembled to bring the skills, expertise, temperament and time to govern a multi-million dollar public enterprise.
Board Composition
What’s the Right Size for a Charter School Board?

Bigger than you think

- At least 4 committees: Governance, Finance, Development, Academic Excellence
- Probably need some other taskforces: Personnel, Facilities, etc.
- Minimum of 3 people on a committee
- Trustees only serve on one committee – serving on more than one committee leads to burn out

11-15 is the optimal number
Prioritized Skills

- Finance
- Facilities—acquisition, build out, financing
- Legal
- HR, Personnel
- Fundraising
- Education – but not too narrow a focus
- Previous governance experience
Start with Balanced Skill Sets but Don’t Stop There

QUESTIONS

- What are the most important capabilities of board members? Should you look for well-rounded board members, or members who are experts in varied fields? Is there a role for board members who are not financial resources, but are subject area experts?

- Please address the transition from an interim board (founding board of a charter school - those who made it happen) to the governing board; in particular what to do with dead weight interim board members and how to politely move them along?

- What advice you would give people who are newly forming a board or organization?

- Could we discuss the role of parents from the school on the board? Also, issues around having a PTO liaison attend board meetings or sit on the board? Our school is struggling with a PTO who wants a voting role on the board.
QUESTIONS

- Besides firing a talented, experienced and valued director, what does a board do when the director 'allies' with the parent organization to publicly and privately critique the board frequently?
- Should the board require that all board members contribute money to the charter school, or set a minimum contribution?
- How do boards find/recruit chairs that have the time and skills to lead a board from mediocre to great, particularly when the school leader is not fully invested in governance?
- Please address challenges of recruiting board members from the community that are not parents, staff, or teachers.
- What is the ideal board term and how do you keep your board empowered/knowledgeable with expiring board terms?
